MILTON MAHLUM
IS NAMED DIST.
COMMANDERWINS 29 TO 60 FROM JOYCE LEWIS,
IS, ELECTION IS MADE
UNANIMOUSST. CLOUD GETS NEXT CONVENTION—BRILLIANT BANQUET
IN EVENING

The Sixth District American Legion association was formally organized in Brainerd on Monday, September 26, 1921.

Officers elected were District Commander Milton Mahlum of Brainerd, who defeated Joyce Lewis of Long Prairie 29 to 60; Vice Commander B. H. Saunders of Wadena.

The various counties of the sixth district then caucused and named as their county chairmen:

Cass—Frederick M. Whitney of Walker.

Aitkin—F. E. Bolen of Aitkin.

Benton—J. B. Cullen of Sauk Rapids.

Crow Wing—A. A. Gieriet.

Morrison—Dell Batters of Little Falls.

Stearns—William J. Thul of Melrose.

Todd—C. A. Peet of Bertha.

Wadena—Hugh G. Parker of Wadena.

St. Cloud won the 1922 convention, its beauties and resources being glowingly set forth by J. A. Benson of St. Cloud.

Past State Commander A. H. Vernon of Little Falls was endorsed as a candidate for National Commander.

Resolutions Adopted

Resolutions adopted at the business session were:

"That we support all resolutions made at the state convention.

"That special attention be given by the Sixth District Department that no American Legion post shall sell or cause to be sold any tickets, lotteries or any game of chance, without full consent of the local post in which vicinity they are sold.

"That a vote of thanks be tendered State Commander A. A. Van Dyke for the assistance rendered at this convention.

"That a vote of thanks be tendered the local post of Brainerd, the city mayor and the citizens of Brainerd for their hospitality.

WILLIAM J. THUL, Melrose, JOHN H. REED, Walker.

DR. J. B. CULLEN, Sauk Rapids. WILLIAM DADE, Pillager, CLYDE E. PARKER, Brainerd."

At the Banquet.

At the brilliant banquet, held Monday evening at the Ransford hotel, Rev. Fred Errington presided as toastmaster and he made a very capable one.

Joyce Lewis

The first speaker called on was Joyce Lewis of Long Prairie, acting District Commander and Past National Vice Commander. Mr. Joyce bears the injuries of war service and unable to stand with his crutches, delivered his remarks seated. He said the Sixth District boys had treated them mighty fine and they were all grateful to the post and citizens.

C. A. Albright

Judge C. A. Albright told several funny stories and recited a poem which won the approval of all.

Dr. G. I. Badeaux

Dr. G. I. Badeaux was in good voice and sang, "On the Road to Mandelay," by Speaks, and when encored gave "I Did Not Know." His accompanist was Mrs. Walter P. Wieland.

G. W. Barron

G. W. Barron, Commander of the Cloquet post, a guest at the convention, paid a tribute to Brainerd where he had been born and reared and where he had spent 21 years of his life. He carried greetings from the eighth district of the American Legion, recently organized. Problems at Cloquet were similar to those encountered in Brainerd.

"The American Legion", said Mr. Barron, "was not opposed to union labor." The main issue before the Legion was proper relief of its disabled men and employment for those not at work.

In conclusion he maintained the keynote of the American Legion should be service, as had been enunciated by Dr. A. A. Van Dyke.

H. P. Dunn

H. P. Dunn praised the spirit of unity in the American Legion. They were loyal to one another, to their organization and their country. The noble sacrifices they made would never be forgotten. They were the men who answered their country's call and vindicated its honor. American manhood and valor had passed the test.

Song by All

Music during the evening was furnished by an orchestra composed of Julius Witham violinist, William P. Palmer pianist, Henry Elvig trombone and Oscar Risberg drums.

The mess call was sounded by Mr. Palmer, as trumpeter for the Legion.

With Mr. Palmer at the piano, the banqueters sang "Hall, the Gang's All Here."

M. F. Murray

M. F. Murray of the State Executive Committee, familiarly called "Mike", led off with a sheaf of good stories that tickled the fancy of the gathering. He told one on Milton Mahlum, one on a newspaper experience, on Frederick J. Miller, Gerald Barron, and others.

He voiced the need of cooperation with the "clean-up" squad which was to assist ex-service men. Many disabled men had been denied compensation and their cases were to be reopened. The American Legion should help such men get their just claims allowed.

A. C. Mraz

A. C. Mraz made a most pleasing impression as he sang "The Turnkey" by DeKoven and responding to an encore gave "Invictus" by Huhn. His accompanist was William F. Palmer.

Frederick J. Miller

Frederick J. Miller of Pine River spoke of Armistice Day, November 11, and appealed for a universal observance of the day.

"There's a Long, Long Trail"

"There's a Long, Long Trail" was sung by the ex-service men.

Col. C. D. Johnson

Col. C. D. Johnson addressed the assemblage as "Mr. Chairman and Fellow Warriors." He said he had been a back home soldier in three wars. As to his speeches a newspaper had once criticized them as having no depth but being full of flights of fancy.

He told many witty stories and then in conclusion paid a high tribute to the valor of the American soldier.

J. A. Benson

J. A. Benson of St. Cloud spoke of the Legion and its work.

A. H. Vernon

A. H. Vernon of Little Falls, former State Commander, said the sixth district made itself felt in the Legion because it acted as a unit. "We fight out what few differences we may have and then present a solid front," said Mr. Vernon.

No state in the Union has treated its ex-service men better than Minnesota, said he. It was important to get the men on the land and have them established in productive work. The clean-up drive should take care of the sick and disabled, and he hoped it would make good. Its work should be checked up.

Congress had provided some money for ex-service men, but there was a lot of red and red tape and not much common sense connected with its administration.

He spoke in favor of adjusted compensation for ex-service men. The ex-service man had been "gypped" a lot in the past and had really been fined for the service he gave his country.

Congress had found money for the railways, but not enough to play fair with the ex-service men.

"I don't blame congress so much, but the ex-service men for not presenting their case to the business men of the country," said Mr. Vernon.

Ex-service men are being forced down on a low economic plane, said he. If the nation cannot pay them now, it can do so in notes payable ten, twenty years later. Other nations had adjusted compensation. North Western Canada with less resources gave its ex-service men adjusted compensation. As high as $5,000 had been loaned an ex-service man on a half section. The men were producing and earning. Money paid the ex-

SUBMARINE R-6 IS SUNK AT SAN PEDRO

WATERMOST OF MEN ESCAPE—BODIES OF
TWO SAILORS HAVE BEEN RECOVERED

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—The submarine R-6 sunk at her moorings in San Pedro, California, harbor, at 7:15 yesterday, according to a dispatch received today by the navy department.

The dispatch was somewhat garbled and said there was two casualties. Further details have been asked. The submarine sank while she was moored beside the mother ship, Kansas.

Two Bodies Recovered

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 27.—Divers today attempted to recover the bodies of two sailors believed to have been lost when the submarine R-6 went to the bottom of San Pedro harbor last night.

Eighteen other members of the crew had miraculous escapes. No explanation of the mysterious accident was offered today by naval officials pending convening of the board of inquiry.

Ten Men Lose Lives

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 27.—Ten men are thought to have lost their lives in the R-6 disaster according to a check of survivors made today by authorities of the submarine base here.

The number of missing may even reach as high as twelve, it was said.

The United States tug Sonoma rushed to the scene today and is standing over the conning tower of the sunken submarine. The tower is six feet over the water's surface. The Sonoma is steadying the submarine in an upright position on the bottom.

Divers said there was "one chance in a million" that the missing men might have been able to close an airtight compartment in the undersea craft and they might still be alive.

The submarine was moored to the United States submarine tender Camden and other crafts at the time she started settling. An unknown sailor from one of the other crafts in the harbor cut the ropes which bound the big submarine to its neighbors preventing them from being dragged down also.

The entire crew was inside the hull when the accident occurred, arranging torpedoes for practice this morning, according to naval officials. It was thought that the last torpedo tube failed under the pressure of the sea. The men poured out of the submarine in a single file before the rushing waters. A gas explosion occurred.

All war craft in the harbor were aroused by the shouts and the explosion and turned searchlights on the submarine and rushed small boats to aid her crew. The R-6 was a Holland type and was built in 1918. Floating cranes will be used to lift the wrecked vessel now resting on the bottom of thirty feet of water, navy engineers said today.

One Drowned, One Missing

Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—One drowned and one missing was the authentic casualty list given the United Press today by Rear Admiral Henry O. Stickney, commander of the Pacific fleet train, following the mysterious sinking last night of the United States submarine R-6 at San Pedro.

R. Driffin, fireman, was drowned. Vincent Sapulburg, electrician, is missing. The body of Driffin was shot out of the diving boat's conning tower. Survivors who witnessed the drowning said Driffin in a panic fought off would-be rescuers. He went down in a section that followed the last dive of the R-6.

Sapulburg succeeded in "dogging down" the water from the door of the compartment in which he was caught when the submarine sank without warning. He can live for forty-eight hours on the supply of air in the compartment, Admiral Stickney said.

A report from San Pedro that ten men were unaccounted for was discounted by Stickney.

WITNESS TELLS OF THE
ARBuckle BOOZE PARTY

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Zey Pyvron, pretty show girl, today told her version of Roscoe Arbuckle's Labor day party alleged to have preceded the death of Virginia Rappe.

"I saw Miss Rappe go into the bathroom of Arbuckle's apartment," she said. "Arbuckle followed her."

"Arbuckle came out about an hour later. Both Mrs. Delmont and I wrapped on the door and then Arbuckle opened it. Mrs. Delmont had kicked on the door and cried 'open the door I want to speak to Virginia.'"

"When Arbuckle opened the door he was dressed in a bath robe and pajamas and he had on Virginia's hat."

"Mrs. Delmont and I ran into the room. We saw Miss Rappe lying on one of the twin beds. Miss Rappe was dressed and her hair was hanging. She was moaning, 'I am dying.'"

Miss Pyvron was dressed in a blue suit with hat to match. She spoke in a low voice and picked her words carefully.

SHARP DIVISION
AMONG DEMOCRATS
ON PEACE TREATIES

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Sharp division of opinion over the German peace treaty among democratic senators was disclosed today at a party conference which broke up without definite action on what attitude to take toward ratification.

Democratic Leader Underwood announced another meeting to be called for Thursday to discuss the pact.

Before the conference there was much discussion of a report published that former President Wilson was backing the fight against the treaty in the senate. Democrat senators denied Wilson was engineering the battle on the pact. Wilson is known to have told a friend who urged him to make a statement on the acts of the administration, that the republicans are "having troubles of their own," and he wanted to keep out of it inasmuch as his appearance in any situation would solidify the republican strength in an attack on him.

BANK LOANS TO CUSTOMERS INCREASED
IN NINTH DISTRICTOVER $5,000,000 IN AUGUST—TIME
AND SAVINGS DEPOSITS DECLINED IN NINTH DISTRICT

(By United Press.)

Minneapolis, Sept. 27.—Bank loans to customers in the ninth federal reserve district increased considerably during August the report of the state federal reserve bank showed today.

Thirty-five banks in larger cities of the northwest increased their loans by $5,000,000 and paid off loans to federal reserve banks totalling $500,000, the report said.

Meanwhile the federal reserve bank increased its accommodations $500,000. Time and savings deposits in the Twin City banks declined during August though they remained at a higher level than a year ago.

The statement showed 60 selected business men reflected the opinion that the volume of business in August was below normal in practically every case, and that it was stationary or declining in a majority of the cases. A substantial minority report however showed improvement.

Millionaires Ask For Protection Against Bandits

(By United Press)

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Millionaires residing in Nassau county, Long Island, one of the richest and most exclusive colonies in the country, appealed to the authorities today for special protection from bandits.

More than fifty robberies have occurred in the last ten days, including daylight holdups in the village and along the country roads. The situation has become so desperate that state troopers already are patrolling the highways.

PEACE CONFERENCE
PROBABLE BETWEEN
FEINERS AND BRITISH

(By United Press)

London, Sept. 27.—Barring possible dissent by certain cabinet members a peace conference between Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries and British cabinet ministers will be held in London next week, it was learned today.

The note from Lloyd George, inviting De Valera to send a deputation was to be forwarded tomorrow according to present plans. The view of nearly all the various British ministers who have been considering the rough draft of Lloyd George's proposed reply has been received today, according to a report from Gairloch.

There was no reason, it was said, to anticipate that any serious opposition to the line the premier had taken had arisen. In that case the reply would indicate clearly to De Valera, it was believed, that it was the last word of the British government on the subject of the proposed conference, and would then definitely refuse to recognize Irish independence, while leaving De Valera and his colleagues free to do so if they chose.

Confesses Robbery
To Escape Extradition
To Minnesota For Trial

(By United Press)

Fargo, Sept. 27.—Peter Winters, states attorney, of McClusky, was due here today to question R. J. Roach in regard to an alleged confession that he robbed the Martin State bank and a store and postoffice in Sheridan county. Roach is fighting extradition to Minnesota where he is wanted on a charge of being implicated in a robbery of the Amelund, Minn., State bank last July.

The limit for robbery of a bank with explosives in North Dakota is twenty years while in Minnesota the limit is life imprisonment. Authorities believe Roach may be fighting the Sheridan county robbery in order to escape extradition. Two of four men implicated in the Martin bank robbery are now serving sentences. Two others escaped.

Securing Jury Is
Difficult Matter in the
Southard Murder Trial

(By United Press)

Twin Falls, Idaho, Sept. 27.—The friendliness of the residents of Twin Falls and vicinity threatened today to hold up the selection of a jury to try Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "feminine bluebeard" on charge of murder.

Prospective jurors had so thoroughly discussed the case among themselves and with neighbors, all who were so well acquainted with Mrs. Southard and her father "Billy" Trueblood, prominent rancher, that they were automatically barred from serving.

When the second day of trial opened only one juror had been passed for cause, and eleven others were holding their seats in the jury box tentatively.

Witnesses began to arrive from various parts of the country, including several from Missouri. The latter will testify regarding the death of Mrs. Southard's first husband, Robert Dooley, and his brother, Edward Dooley, who had been her childhood chums in Missouri. She is specifically charged with the death of her third husband, Edward Meyers, although it is alleged she poisoned her other two husbands as well as her brother-in-law and her first husband's two-year-old child.

The state apparently will not demand the death penalty believing it practically impossible to hang a woman on circumstantial evidence.

FARM MARKETING
ORGANIZATIONS FAIL

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—Efforts to bring executives of the Minnesota farm bureau federation and the united grain growers, incorporated, together, had failed today.

The grain growers will proceed alone with negotiations with the equity co-operative exchange of St. Paul to finance a grain pool. Farm bureau federation officials declined to endorse proposed contracts.

Officials of all three bodies asserted there was no animosity between the organizations. They declined to make public points of difference but it was understood the federation officials objected to the policies.

TELEPHONE RATES NOW

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—Present telephone rates are all the traffic can bear, B. T. Gifford of Duluth, told the state railroad and warehouse commission today.

He represented the city of Duluth in hearing on valuation of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company property.

People who resent the increased rates have had their telephones moved, and loss to the company through this action is sufficient to offset the profit of increase.

Valuation submitted by the commission engineers as well as company engineers are too high, Gifford argued.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED IN MEXICO

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Two Americans were killed in Mexico near Dolores Saturday night, according to advices to the state department today. The Americans were T. G. Smith of Benita, Oklahoma, and E. B. Kilburg, of Los Angeles, were slain by bandits.

Learning of the slaying Consul Ott conferred with the governor of Chihuahua who at once ordered the Mexican rurales police to start in pursuit of the bandits. The two men were employed by the Dolores Mining company.

DEPT. OF COMMERCE
ESTIMATES JOBLESS
AT ONLY 3,500,000THIS IS 40 PER CENT LESS THAN
ESTIMATE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LABORBOTH ESTIMATES WERE BEFORE
THE UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSION

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Unemployment throughout the country now numbers few less than 3,500,000, a nation-wide survey made for the unemployment conference by the department of commerce showed today.

This total is approximately 40 per cent less than the recent estimate of the department of labor which stated that men out of work total 5,750,000. Figures collected by Secretary of Commerce Hoover's department, it was learned, are based on reports from mayors of all cities throughout the country with a population of 10,000 or more.

This reduction of the number of jobless as found by this method caused a distinct tone of optimism among the delegates to the conference when work was resumed today.

The two estimates as to unemployment may cause a clash between the department of labor and department of commerce. The labor department's figures are based on reports from 1,750 leading industrial establishments throughout the country. These reports indicate a reduction of 25 per cent in the working force as compared with war prosperity years. The same percentage was applied to other plants to determine the total.

This method Secretary of Commerce Hoover believes is entirely inaccurate because the percentage is less in many other plants, and many people who usually do not work including thousands of women who entered industrial plants during the war.

Hoover, who is chairman of the conference, and other administration leaders have made it plain that the first task of the conference will be to determine the estimated number of unemployed.

The big estimate of the labor department and smaller ones of the commerce department were before the conference today with the opening of the public hearing. Delegates will be asked to determine which gives a most accurate picture of the situation.

Workers to Blame

The workers themselves were blamed for widespread idleness in the United States as the national unemployment conference started its investigation today.

R. F. Phelps, director of labor statistics of the Massachusetts labor department, told the committee on unemployment that refusal of workers to accept reduced wages was one of the causes of the present unemployment.

Another reason why so many are idle, especially in Massachusetts, is because workers won't take jobs they don't like, he said. Lack of money is forcing idle men to take work now at reduced pay, Phelps said. Last May there were 36 men for every job in Massachusetts. Now the ratio is 13 to 1, he said.

The R-6 was a Holland type and was built in 1918. Floating cranes will be used to lift the wrecked vessel now resting on the bottom of thirty feet of water, navy engineers said today.

One Drowned, One Missing

Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—One drowned and one missing was the authentic casualty list given the United Press today by Rear Admiral Henry O. Stickney, commander of the Pacific fleet train, following the mysterious sinking last night of the United States submarine R-6 at San Pedro.

R. Driffin, fireman, was drowned. Vincent Sapulburg, electrician, is missing. The body of Driffin was shot out of the diving boat's conning tower. Survivors who witnessed the drowning said Driffin in a panic fought off would-be rescuers. He went down in a section that followed the last dive of the R-6.

Sapulburg succeeded in "dogging down" the water from the door of the compartment in which he was caught when the submarine sank without warning. He can live for forty-eight hours on the supply of air in the compartment, Admiral Stickney said.

A report from San Pedro that ten men were unaccounted for was discounted by Stickney.

WITNESS TELLS OF THE
ARBuckle BOOZE PARTY

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—Zey Pyrron, pretty show girl, today told her version of Roscoe Arbuckle's Labor day party alleged to have preceded the death of Virginia Rappe.

"I saw Miss Rappe go into the bath room of Arbuckle's apartment," she said. "Arbuckle followed her."

"Arbuckle came out about an hour later. Both Mrs. Delmont and I wrapped on the door and then Arbuckle opened it. Mrs. Delmont had kicked on the door and cried 'open the door I want to speak to Virginia.'"

"When Arbuckle opened the door he was dressed in a bath robe and pajamas and he had on Virginia's hat."

"Mrs. Delmont and I ran into the room. We saw Miss Rappe lying on one of the twin beds. Miss Rappe was dressed and her hair was hanging. She was moaning, 'I am dying.'"

Miss Pyrron was dressed in a blue suit with hat to match. She spoke in a low voice and picked her words carefully.

SHARP DIVISION
AMONG DEMOCRATS
ON PEACE TREATIES

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Sharp division of opinion over the German peace treaty among democratic senators was disclosed today at a party conference which broke up without definite action on what attitude to take toward ratification.

Democratic Leader Underwood announced another meeting to be called for Thursday to discuss the pact.

Before the conference there was much discussion of a report published that former President Wilson was backing the fight against the treaty in the senate. Democrat senators denied Wilson was engineering the battle on the pact. Wilson is known to have told a friend who urged him to make a statement on the acts of the administration, that the republicans are "having troubles of their own," and he wanted to keep out of it inasmuch as his appearance in any situation would solidify the republican strength in an attack on him.

IN NINTH DISTRICTOVER $5,000,000 IN AUGUST—TIME
AND SAVINGS DEPOSITS DECLINED IN TWIN CITIES

(By United Press.)

Minneapolis, Sept. 27.—Bank loans to customers in the ninth federal reserve district increased considerably during August the report of the state federal reserve bank showed today.

Thirty-five banks in larger cities of the northwest increased their loans by $5,000,000 and paid off loans to federal reserve banks totalling $500,000, the report said.

Meanwhile the federal reserve bank increased its accommodations $500,000. Time and savings deposits in the Twin City banks declined during August though they remained at a higher level than a year ago.

The statement showed 60 selected business men reflected the opinion that the volume of business in August was below normal in practically every case, and that it was stationary or declining in a majority of the cases. A substantial minority report however showed improvement.

Millionaires Ask For
Protection Against Bandits

(By United Press)

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Millionaires residing in Nassau county, Long Island, one of the richest and most exclusive colonies in the country, appealed to the authorities today for special protection from bandits.

More than fifty robberies have occurred in the last ten days, including daylight holdups in the village and along the country roads. The situation has become so desperate that state troopers already are patrolling the highways.

PEACE CONFERENCE
PROBABLE BETWEEN
FEINERS AND BRITISH

(By United Press)

London, Sept. 27.—Barring possible dissension by certain cabinet members a peace conference between Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries and British cabinet ministers will be held in London next week, it was learned today.

The note from Lloyd George, inviting De Valera to send a deputation was to be forwarded tomorrow according to present plans. The view of nearly all the various British ministers who have been considering the rough draft of Lloyd George's proposed reply has been received today, according to a report from Gairloch. There was no reason, it was said, to anticipate that any serious opposition to the line the premier had taken had arisen. In that case the reply would indicate clearly to De Valera, it was believed, that it was the last word of the British government on the subject of the proposed conference, and would then definitely refuse to recognize Irish independence, while leaving De Valera and his colleagues free to do so if they chose.

Confesses Robbery
To Escape Extradition
To Minnesota For Trial

(By United Press)

Fargo, Sept. 27.—Peter Winters, states attorney, of McClusky, was due here today to question R. J. Roach in regard to an alleged confession that he robbed the Martin State bank and a store and postoffice in Sheridan county. Roach is fighting extradition to Minnesota where he is wanted on a charge of being implicated in a robbery of the Amelund, Minn., State bank last July.

The limit for robbery of a bank with explosives in North Dakota is twenty years while in Minnesota the limit is life imprisonment. Authorities believe Roach may be fighting the Sheridan county robbery in order to escape extradition. Two of four men implicated in the Martin bank robbery are now serving sentences. Two others escaped.

Securing Jury Is
Difficult Matter in the
Southard Murder Trial

(By United Press)

Twin Falls, Idaho, Sept. 27.—The friendliness of the residents of Twin Falls and vicinity threatened today to hold up the selection of a jury to try Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged "feminine bluebeard" on charge of murder.

Prospective jurors had so thoroughly discussed the case among themselves and with neighbors, all who were so well acquainted with Mrs. Southard and her father "Billy" Trueblood, prominent rancher, that they were automatically barred from serving.

When the second day of trial opened only one juror had been passed for cause, and eleven others were holding their seats in the jury box tentatively.

Witnesses began to arrive from various parts of the country, including several from Missouri. The latter will testify regarding the death of Mrs. Southard's first husband, Robert Dooley, and his brother, Edward Dooley, who had been her childhood chums in Missouri. She is specifically charged with the death of her third husband, Edward Meyers, although it is alleged she poisoned her other two husbands as well as her brother-in-law and her first husband's two-year-old child.

The state apparently will not demand the death penalty believing it practically impossible to hang a woman on circumstantial evidence.

FARM MARKETING
ORGANIZATIONS FAIL
TO AGREE ON POLICY

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—Efforts to bring executives of the Minnesota farm bureau federation and the united grain growers, incorporated, together, has failed today.

The grain growers will proceed alone with negotiations with the equity co-operative exchange of St. Paul to finance a grain pool. Farm bureau federation officials declined to endorse proposed contracts.

Officials of all three bodies asserted there was no animosity between the organizations. They declined to make public points of difference but it was understood the federation officials objected to the policies.

TELEPHONE RATES NOW
ALL TRAFFIC CAN BEAR

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—Present telephone rates are all the traffic can bear, B. T. Gifford of Duluth, told the state railroad and warehouse commission today.

He represented the city of Duluth in hearing on valuation of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company property.

People who resent the increased rates have had their telephones moved, and loss to the company through this action is sufficient to offset the profit of increase.

Valuation submitted by the commission engineers as well as company engineers are too high, Gifford argued.

TWO AMERICANS
KILLED IN MEXICO

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Two Americans were killed in Mexico near Dolores Saturday night, according to advices to the state department today. The Americans were T. G. Smith of Benita, Oklahoma, and E. B. Kilsingberg, of Los Angeles, were slain by bandits.

Learning of the slaying Consul Ott conferred with the governor of Chihuahua who at once ordered the Mexican rurales police to start in pursuit of the bandits. The two men were employed by the Dolores Mining company.

DEPT. OF COMMERCE
ESTIMATES JOBLESS
AT ONLY 3,500,000THIS IS 40 PER CENT LESS THAN
ESTIMATE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LABORBOTH ESTIMATES WERE BEFORE
THE UNEMPLOYMENT CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSION

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 27.—Unemployment throughout the country now numbers few less than 3,500,000, a nation-wide survey made for the unemployment conference by the department of commerce showed today.

This total is approximately 40 per cent less than the recent estimate of the department of labor which stated that men out of work total 5,750,000. Figures collected by Secretary of Commerce Hoover's department, it was learned, are based on reports from mayors of all cities throughout the country with a population of 10,000 or more.

This reduction of the number of jobless as found by this method caused a distinct tone of optimism among the delegates to the conference when work was resumed today.

The two estimates as to unemployment may cause a clash between the department of labor and department of commerce. The labor department's figures are based on reports from 1,750 leading industrial establishments throughout the country. These reports indicate a reduction of 25 per cent in the working force as compared with war prosperity years. The same percentage was applied to other plants to determine the total.

This method Secretary of Commerce Hoover believes is entirely inaccurate because the percentage is less in many other plants, and many people who usually do not work including thousands of women who entered industrial plants during the war.

Hoover, who is chairman of the conference, and other administration leaders have made it plain that the first task of the conference will be to determine the estimated number of unemployed.

The big estimate of the labor department and smaller ones of the commerce department were before the conference today with the opening of the public hearing. Delegates will be asked to determine which gives a most accurate picture of the situation.

Workers to Blame

The workers themselves were blamed for widespread idleness in the United States as the national unemployment conference started its investigation today.

R. F. Phelps, director of labor statistics of the Massachusetts labor department, told the committee on unemployment that refusal of workers to accept reduced wages was one of the causes of the present unemployment.

Another reason why so many are idle, especially in Massachusetts, is because workers won't take jobs they don't like, he said. Lack of money is forcing idle men to take work now at reduced pay, Phelps said. Last May there were 36 men for every job in Massachusetts. Now the ratio is 13 to 1, he said.

Some records have already been broken and it is expected that this meeting will shatter all records for attendance.

To Contest Filling Station Ordinance

That the new gasoline station ordinance requiring an annual license fee paid the city is not to have clear sailing is evidenced by the report that action is to be started testing its legality. The license fee is $50 within the fire limits and $25 outside tax limits.

Inquiry at the city clerk's office revealed the fact that the ordinance became effective August 28, but that to date nobody has taken out a filling station license.

NOTES

It is planned that the Chamber of Commerce will be the Bureau of Information for this lake resort committee and that the secretary keep on file the literature from each resort, also that the secretary inform himself by personal visits to every resort the facilities, also the best way of reaching the resort.

Any suggestion by a member of this department of the Chamber of Commerce should be made direct to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who will refer it to the visit with Mr. Anderson's parents.

NOT EASY TASK FOR GEN. WOOD

ADMINISTRATION OF THE PHILIPPINES WILL REQUIRE HIS EMINENT ABILITIES.

AMERICAN RULE TO CONTINUE

Governor General Must Reconcile the Islanders to This—Some Political Gossip Started in Washington by the Appointment.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Leonard Wood, major general of the United States army, has accepted the presidential appointment as governor general of the Philippine Islands.

Wood will have no easy job in the Philippines. There are many Filipinos who hold that Uncle Sam should give instant freedom to the islands. The feeling in Washington among the adherents of the present administration is that the islands are not yet ready for self-rule. One of General Wood's tasks will be to reconcile the islanders to a continuation of government by Uncle Sam, although the Filipino today has a large share in the work of governing the land in which he lives.

General Wood has been an army officer for thirty-five years, but a large part of his work has been administrative. He is credited generally with having resurrected Cuba from the virtually dead state to which Spain had reduced her. He also did what all Americans have conceded was highly constructive work in the Philippine Islands, where at one time he was governor of one of the most troublesome provinces. He was compelled at that time to meet many difficult situations, one of which, the most difficult of all, had arisen through necessary attempts to adjust religious differences and especially some of the religious customs of the Mohammedan inhabitants.

Arouses Political Gossip. There is some political gossip in Washington about this appointment of General Wood to the Philippines post. Some men think the American people designedly were led to believe that the general had solicited the place. It is charged by some of the critics of the administration that this was done in order that no one might think that, with an eye to the future, the administration was willing that Wood should be stationed for some time in a far distant land.

Friends of the administration deny there was any intention to make it appear that the general had solicited the appointment, and of course there is denial of any political significance. The facts in the case seem to be that the general did not want to take the post, but that when he reached the islands and made a study of conditions he thought it was his duty to take the place if the administration should offer it to him. In other words, he was willing to do his duty by his country, and to forego his personal preference which led him to desire to come back to the United States to take the position of provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

The general has asked the War department to assign to him as assistants several army officers who labored with him in other administrative positions and of whose capabilities he has satisfied himself. It is probable that the War department will temporarily detach from active military duty the officers asked for by the general, and therefore there will be in the governor general's office in the Philippines a staff of men who before this have done administrative work of a somewhat like kind.

No Danger of Insurrection. Some general information has come to Washington from the Philippines concerning conditions there. It seems that there no longer is any likelihood of troubles which might lead to a resort to arms. One of the most recent pictures which has come from the Philippines showed General Wood and

The Ladies Aid of the First Baptist church will meet with Mrs. John Curo at 610 Tamarack street Wednesday afternoon. Visitors always welcome.

MANKATO HAS BEST BREAD MAKERS

Mankato, Minn., Sept. 27—Mankato boasts the best bread makers in the country. Leona Peterson, Myra Jones and Evelyn Cuddy, high school girls, were honored today. They won the bread making championship against contestants from twelve other states at the Interstate Fair at Sioux City. The three won the Minnesota state fair bread baking contest and took the honor of representing Minnesota at the Interstate fair.

Aguinaldo, the leader of the Filipino insurrection of some years ago, in amicable conversation, Washington has heard that the Wood appointment is acceptable to all elements in the islands, and there are many racial and religious groups within this eastern island jurisdiction of the United States.

The writer of this, it happens, has known General Wood personally and closely for some time. The general is the proverbial glutton for work. Despite a slight lameness he probably is physically the most powerful man in the United States army, and he can undergo any amount of fatigue. When he was campaigning for the Republican nomination for the presidency he spent day after day and night after night on railroad trains, stopping here, there and everywhere to make speeches. Sometimes he made as many as 15 speeches a day, but during all the time of the strenuous life his voice never gave out for a moment, and he never showed the slightest signs of physical fatigue. When he had a chance he would go to sleep and it did not make much difference where he slept or what the hour of the day was.

Washington seems to think that the administration of the Philippines for the next year will be hard, driving work. It knows Wood's physical and mental stamina and it necessarily has no fear that the labor, hard as it may be, will make him answer "sick call" when it blows at the nearest army post.

He fished with a bamboo pole, a bassereno, one ho 4 of which nabbed the fish. When first caught, Mr. Solberg thought he had hooked a dead head. There was a strong, steady pull on the line which bent and nearly broke the pole. The fish was bought by James E. CHAMBER COMMERCE DINNER WEDNESDAY

Over one hundred tickets have been sold for the dinner at the Chamber of Commerce this Wednesday at 6 o'clock. The meeting to be held after the dinner will consider many things of importance and there will be reports from several committees. Some records have already been broken and it is expected that this meeting will shatter all records for attendance.

To Contest Filling Station Ordinance

That the new gasoline station ordinance requiring an annual license fee paid the city is not to have clear sailing is evidenced by the report that action is to be started testing its legality. The license fee is $50 within the fire limits and $25 outside the limits.

Inquiry at the city clerk's office revealed the fact that the ordinance became effective August 28, but that to date nobody has taken out a filling station license.

NOTES

It is planned that the Chamber of Commerce will be the Bureau of Information for this lake resort committee and that the secretary keep on file the literature from each resort, also that the secretary inform himself by personal visits to every resort the facilities, also the best way of reaching the resort.

If the business demands more help it was suggested that the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce secure an assistant for the busy summer months. Any suggestion by a member of this department of the Chamber of Commerce should be made direct to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who will refer it to the committee of five.

NOT EASY TASK FOR GEN. WOOD

ADMINISTRATION OF THE PHILIPPINES WILL REQUIRE HIS EMINENT ABILITIES.

AMERICAN RULE TO CONTINUE

Governor General Must Reconcile the Islanders to This—Some Political Gossip Started in Washington by the Appointment.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Leonard Wood, major general of the United States army, has accepted the presidential appointment as governor general of the Philippine Islands.

Wood will have no easy job in the Philippines. There are many Filipinos who hold that Uncle Sam should give instant freedom to the islands. The feeling in Washington among the adherents of the present administration is that the islands are not yet ready for self-rule. One of General Wood's tasks will be to reconcile the islanders to a continuation of government by Uncle Sam, although the Filipino today has a large share in the work of governing the land in which he lives.

General Wood has been an army officer for thirty-five years, but a large part of his work has been administrative. He is credited generally with having resurrected Cuba from the virtually dead state to which Spain had reduced her. He also did what all Americans have conceded was highly constructive work in the Philippine Islands, where at one time he was governor of one of the most troublesome provinces. He was compelled at that time to meet many difficult situations, one of which, the most difficult of all, had arisen through necessary attempts to adjust religious differences and especially some of the religious customs of the Mohammedan inhabitants.

Arouses Political Gossip. There is some political gossip in Washington about this appointment of General Wood to the Philippines post. Some men think the American people designedly were led to believe that the general had solicited the place. It is charged by some of the critics of the administration that this was done in order that no one might think that, with an eye to the future, the administration was willing that Wood should be stationed for some time in a far distant land.

Friends of the administration deny there was any intention to make it appear that the general had solicited the appointment, and of course there is denial of any political significance. The facts in the case seem to be that the general did not want to take the post, but that when he reached the islands and made a study of conditions he thought it was his duty to take the place if the administration should offer it to him. In other words, he was willing to do his duty by his country, and to forego his personal preference which led him to desire to come back to the United States to take the position of provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

The general has asked the War department to assign to him as assistants several army officers who labored with him in other administrative positions and of whose capabilities he has satisfied himself. It is probable that the War department will temporarily detach from active military duty the officers asked for by the general, and therefore there will be in the governor general's office in the Philippines a staff of men who before this have done administrative work of a somewhat like kind.

No Danger of Insurrection. Some general information has come to Washington from the Philippines concerning conditions there. It seems that there no longer is any likelihood of troubles which might lead to a resort to arms. One of the most recent pictures which has come from the Philippines showed General Wood and

MANKATO HAS BEST BREAD MAKERS

Mankato, Minn., Sept. 27—Mankato boasts the best bread makers in the country. Leona Peterson, Myra Jones and Evelyn Cuddy, high school girls, were honored today. They won the bread making championship against contestants from twelve other states at the Interstate Fair at Sioux City. The three won the Minnesota state fair bread baking contest and took the honor of representing Minnesota at the Interstate fair.

Aguinaldo, the leader of the Filipino insurrection of some years ago, in amicable conversation, Washington has heard that the Wood appointment is acceptable to all elements in the islands, and there are many racial and religious groups within this eastern island jurisdiction of the United States.

The writer of this, it happens, has known General Wood personally and closely for some time. The general is the proverbial glutton for work. Despite a slight lameness he probably is physically the most powerful man in the United States army, and he can undergo any amount of fatigue. When he was campaigning for the Republican nomination for the presidency he spent day after day and night after night on railroad trains, stopping here, there and everywhere to make speeches. Sometimes he made as many as 15 speeches a day, but during all the time of the strenuous life his voice never gave out for a moment, and he never showed the slightest signs of physical fatigue. When he had a chance he would go to sleep and it did not make much difference where he slept or what the hour of the day was.

Washington seems to think that the administration of the Philippines for the next year will be hard, driving work. It knows Wood's physical and mental stamina and it necessarily has no fear that the labor, hard as it may be, will make him answer "sick call" when it blows at the nearest army post.

Ten Thousand Lakes Association Appealed to Set Forth This Feature in Advertising

FISHING GOOD IN THE FALL

Lake Resort Keepers Organized at the Chamber of Commerce at Monday's Gathering

After a brief statement of the purposes of the meeting of lake resort keepers by Secretary O. J. Bouma, R. R. Wise was called to the chair. The most of the forenoon was occupied with discussions of the problems confronting the resort keepers, chief of which was the shortness of the season. The suggestion was made that the Ten Thousand Lakes Association emphasize in their advertising the fact that from the 15th of September to the 15th of October the resorts of this district were really at their best, fishing was excellent and the duck hunting season was open.

After recess for lunch the meeting was called to order again at 1:30 with J. M. Hayes acting as chairman. After a discussion of the methods of organization it was moved and supported that a committee on organization be appointed by the chair and that they take the matter under consideration and make a report as soon as possible. Carried. The chairman appointed Col. Freeman Thorpe; Mrs. Chas. Barnard, Mrs. A. L. Miller, Alex. Rutger and Chas. Anderson. The chairman of the organization committee recommended that this organization of resort keepers be a department of the Chamber of Commerce and that every resort keeper be requested to join the Chamber of Commerce and that the whole business be under the control of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and that a committee of five be appointed—three from the resort keepers, one from the Chamber of Commerce and the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce acting as chairman of that committee; that all matters pertaining to the interests of summer resort keepers should be taken up by this committee and their recommendations; that circulars, bulletins or maps be issued giving accurate information as to the location and name of the various lakes in northern Minnesota, also location of resorts and names of proprietors; that each resort keeper inform the secretary how many of these bulletins he wanted and each pay for what they actually use. It was moved and supported that this meeting recommend to the Chamber the appointing of Mrs. F. W. Palmer, Alex. Rutger and Chas. Anderson. Upon motion the meeting adjourned.

The following resort keepers were present: Mrs. A. L. Miller and son, "The Oaks"; Deerwood; James Hawkins, representative of "Breezy Point"; Wm. McCall, "Lone Pine Camp"; Mrs. F. W. Palmer, "Piney Ridge Resort"; Jenkins; Mrs. Marjorie Miller, "Sissegabaga Lodge"; Bay Lake; Chas. Anderson, "Rocky Point"; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barnard, "St. Albans"; Garrison; Alex. and Joe Rutger, Bay Lake Summer Resort, Deerwood; The Misses Archer, "Inwood"; Nisswa; Col. Thorpe, Hubert; Benjamin Heald, "Minnewawa Lodge"; Hubert; Carl Wright, representative of "Pukwana Lodge"; Hubert; J. M. Hayes; L. P. Anderson, "Shady Rest Camp"; Pequot; M. V. Baker, "Grand View Lodge". Dr. Bemis of "Ozonite Camp" was in Minneapolis on business and could not return in time for the meeting, and Maurice Seyferth of "Silver Beach" was ill.

The Men's club of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet in the church parlor at 8:15 o'clock tonight, with O. D. Larson and Rev. O. S. Winther.

A Prophecy

It was late afternoon. Low rays of the setting sun barred the sky, touching the autumn hills with added glory. The prosaic windows of tall office buildings burst into seeming flame. Banks of low-lying clouds had formed in the west, and as I gazed upon them their rugged outlines changed before my eyes first faintly, and then more distinctly, the domes and pillars of a mighty city rose in grandeur. The facade of a beautiful, dignified Auditorium was plainly visible, with happy people surging through its open doors.

Familiar avenues of my loved city wore an unaccustomed look, and at the terminus of Seventh Street on Bluff Avenue the wide arches of a graceful bridge were thrown across the Mississippi. On the west side of the river a group of low, symmetrical buildings marked the site of an inspiring university. Many stately homes faced the river to the south.

A Memorial Drive shone whitely through the trees, attesting the love and gratitude of the community for those who gave their lives for their country. At either end of this triumphant roadway, encircling Brainerd west of the river, arches had been erected. The west entrance bore the inscription: "This arch is raised by the People of Brainerd, to the memory of the Honored Dead." The eastern arch read: "Crow Wing county thus honors the fallen Heroes of the World War." Both arches bore the simple dates, April 6th, 1917—November 11th, 1918.

On the shores of Gilbert lake a rustic pavilion offered shade and entertainment. Brightly decorated canoes and bird-like sail boats dotted the lake. In a vine-covered summerhouse medicinal waters from a nearby spring were proffered.

A huge building of cement housed those attending cinema productions, and from the roof garden came the rhythmic music of an orchestra.

An entrancing view of the city and nearby lakes was to be had from a look-out tower rising to dizzy heights on Ahren's hill. Beautiful Gull lake, and the surrounding country made famous by the Indian chief, Hole-in-the-Day, was clearly seen.

Little villages and towns lay within the encircling arms of Brainerd, joining with friendly feeling in community activities; complete in themselves, yet turning to the larger sister for inspiration in matters of civic interest.

Against the darkening sky the bright banner of the Stars and Stripes shone, flying from the roof of the Vocational Home for disabled soldiers. From the Laurel street bridge the white tents and vari-colored buildings of the Tourists' site at White Park were to be seen, silhouetted against the dark pines. Fires glowed in the outdoor fireplaces, and hurrying figures moved from place to place.

On the corner of Fifth and Laurel streets a towering building with an open court had the unmistakable air of an up-to-date hostelry. To the rear wide-spreading garages gave shelter to many cars.

But a short distance away, stone steps led to an artificial lake below the court house. Graceful trees grew along its shore, and on the sparkling surface was a floating stadium. The hills had been terraced and a multitude of persons watched a beautiful pageant. South of the lake a playground and park extended to the river.

REV. E. A. COOKE AGAIN RETURNED

Popular Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Brainerd Assigned Here for Another Year

PLEASING TO CONGREGATION

This Makes the Fourth Year of Rev. Cooke's Ministry in the City of Brainerd

The report for the Methodist Episcopal conference for Northern Minnesota which adjourned in Minneapolis on Sunday night shows that Rev. E. A. Cooke was returned to Brainerd for another year. This is particularly pleasing, not only to members of the church but to his many friends outside of the church. Mr. Cooke has the universal support of all members of the church and is also much favored by folks outside. He has been particularly active in his efforts for better cities affairs. He is a member of the Rotary club, of the Commercial club and was a big factor in the upward support of a clean carnival this summer. This will make the fourth year of the ministry of Rev. Cooke in Brainerd.

Mrs. Cooke is much appreciated by the members of the congregation, she has developed an unusually fine primary department of the church school. She is very thorough in her work and the graduates from her department most thorough in the work that they have covered. Rev. and Mrs. Cooke are visiting her mother this week but will return to Brainerd to be present at the service next Sunday.

A dazzling white cement roadway led past the Flying Field on South Sixth street where large hangars held both private and public aeroplanes. The night shift of the iron mine within the city limits (once known as the Barrows mine) hurried along, exchanging rough greetings with the crowds of men homeward bound.

And then the myriad lights of the city flashed out! A great "Whiteway" marked the length of Bluff Avenue, the Memorial Drive across the river, and all the main avenues and streets of central, East and West Brainerd. High above the city, atop the water tower, a circlet of light met the sky.

The shrill whistles of numerous factory sirens mingled with the many-toned church bells in marking the closing hour of workaday life, and as the rosy glow faded in the heavens the old, well-known roofs, and spires of Brainerd of today greeted my eyes. But in the sober glory of the afterglow my vision still remained, to shine in reality as the spirit of progress, supported by faith and works, is released in this dear city of ours.

Dreams come true. I feel mine will, and this little city of the North will become known world-wide as the Gateway of Minnesota's Ten Thousand Lakes!

and the Model restaurant the basement.

On the second floor a suite is occupied by the Oriental beauty parlors. Adjoining this suite and occupying the southwest section of the second floor is the large suite of Dr. E. F. Jamieson who will take possession about October 1. This suite will include consultation room, operating room, etc.

The Brainerd Business & Professional Women's club has rented two large rooms. There is but one vacant room left and that may be taken by a dentist or some other professional man.

The entire second floor is being remodeled, painted and furnished, care being exercised to suit the varying requirements of all the new tenants.

SIXTH DISTRICT AMERICAN LEGION IS ORGANIZED

service men will not be thrown away, but will help all industry. Northern Minnesota can be given no greater stimulus than adjusted compensation.

He scored desert land and other cheap land thrown open. Some of the ex-service men had spent more money looking at poor land than the soil was worth.

"I am not afraid of the business men of America", said Mr. Vernon. "They are fair-minded". Adjusted compensation should be agitated in one's home community and the justice of the ex-service man's cause should be shown.

More than a majority of both bodies of congress were now in favor of it. After July 1, 1922 has passed and any man votes against the measure, he is against the ex-service men, said he.

"If the present congress does not meet us, let's clean 'em out", said Mr. Vernon emphatically.

"Adjusted compensation for the ex-service men will do more to re-establish the economic stability of America than anything else," said Mr. Vernon in conclusion.

"Over There" was sung with a will by the legionnaires.

F. R. N. Anderson

F. R. N. Anderson, Commander of Brainerd post, said the meeting of the sixth district had been an inspiration to all.

"Smiles" was sung with hearty good will and an accompaniment of smiles.

A. A. VanDyke

Dr. A. A. Van Dyke of St. Paul, State Commander, gave his address which in large measure covered the attitude of the Legion in regard to union labor and entirely refuted charges made without foundation that the Legion was opposed to union labor or was in politics. The entire address is given in another column of the Dispatch.

"America"

"America" was sung at the conclusion of the banquet. The Ransford hotel menu was a most excellent one and received many favorable comments. The dining room was most conveniently arranged for the large gathering.

Business Session

After the banquet the business was resumed. Joyce Lewis presided. The finance committee made a short statement. The resolutions presented were adopted unanimously.

G. W. Barron of Cloquet presented an invitation to the sixth district men to attend the eighth district board meeting at Biwabik, the date soon to be announced.

Election of Officers

Dell Batters of Little Falls nominated Milton Mahlum of Brainerd for District Commander. A motion was made by Frederick J. Miller and seconded that nominations be closed.

C. A. Peet of Bertha nominated Joyce Lewis of Long Prairie. Mr. Miller and second withdrew their motion.

A ballot was taken by counties with this result:

Mahlum—Benton 6 votes; Crow Wing 8 votes; Cass 14 votes; Morrison 9 votes; Stearns 23 votes; total of 60 votes.

Lewis—Aitkin 8 votes; Cass 2 votes; Todd 12 votes; Wadena 7 votes; total 29 votes.

Frederick J. Miller of Pine River nominated J. A. Benson of St. Cloud for Vice Commander, but he declined.

M. F. Murray nominated B. H. Saunders of Wadena and there being no further nominations he was declared unanimously elected.

Executive Committee

At the executive committee meeting held later in Elks hall Arthur Lyddon of Brainerd was named Adjutant, and J. H. Reed of Walker, Finance officer.

The executive committee is composed of the county chairmen, two state executive committee men of this district, the commander and vice commander.

Three additional counties were given seats on the executive committee, Beltrami with Hal Huffman of Bemidji as county chairman, and the counties of Sherburne and Hubbard.

Wadena was named as the next meeting place of the sixth district executive committee.

Delegates Attending.

Among the delegates in attendance at the convention were:

Cloquet, No. 262—Gerald V. Barron, a guest.

Walker, No. 124—J. H. Reed, G. J. Hohman and F. N. Whitney.

The suggestion was made that the Ten Thousand Lakes Association emphasize in their advertising the fact that from the 15th of September to the 15th of October the resorts of this district were really at their best, fishing was excellent and the duck hunting season was open.

After recess for lunch the meeting was called to order again at 1:30 with J. M. Hayes acting as chairman. After a discussion of the methods of organization it was moved and supported that a committee on organization be appointed by the chair and that they take the matter under consideration and make a report as soon as possible. Carried. The chairman appointed Col. Freeman Thorpe; Mrs. Chas. Barnard, Mrs. A. L. Miller, Alex. Ruttger and Chas. Anderson. The chairman of the organization committee recommended that this organization of resort keepers be a department of the Chamber of Commerce and that every resort keeper be requested to join the Chamber of Commerce and that the whole business be under the control of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and that a committee of five be appointed—three from the resort keepers, one from the Chamber of Commerce and the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce acting as chairman of that committee; that all matters pertaining to the interests of summer resort keepers should be taken up by this committee and their recommendations; that circulars, bulletins or maps be issued giving accurate information as to the location and name of the various lakes in northern Minnesota, also location of resorts and names of proprietors; that each resort keeper inform the secretary how many of these bulletins he wanted and each pay for what they actually use. It was moved and supported that this meeting recommend to the Chamber the appointing of Mrs. F. W. Palmer, Alex. Ruttger and Chas. Anderson. Upon motion the meeting adjourned.

The following resort keepers were present: Mrs. A. L. Miller and son, "The Oaks," Deerwood; James Hawkins, representative of "Breezy Point"; Wm. McCall, "Lone Pine Camp"; Mrs. F. W. Palmer, "Pine Ridge Resort"; Jenkins; Mrs. Marjorie Miller, "Sissegama Lodge," Bay Lake; Chas. Anderson, "Rocky Point"; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barnard, "St. Albans"; Garrison; Alex. and Joe Ruttger, Bay Lake Summer Resort; Deerwood; The Misses Archer, "Inwood," Nisswa; Col. Thorpe, Hubert; Benjamin Heald, "Minnewawa Lodge"; Hubert; Carl Wright, representative of "Pukwana Lodge," Hubert; J. M. Hayes; L. P. Anderson, "Shady Rest Camp"; Pequot; M. V. Baker, "Grand View Lodge." Dr. Bemis of "Ozonite Camp" was in Minneapolis on business and could not return in time for the meeting, and Maurice Seyferth of "Silver Beach" was ill.

Obituary

Private Benjamin Franklin Clark was born July 24, 1888 at Silver Creek, Minn. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Clark. He enlisted from Forbes, N. D., September 1917, receiving training at Camp Dodge and was transferred to Camp Pike November 24, 1917, from which point he was sent overseas in June, 1918. He was a member of Machine Gun Company 23rd Infantry and was killed in action on October 3, 1918. He was 30 years of age at the time of his death.

He leaves his parents, one brother and one sister, who all reside in Brainerd.

A Prophecy

It was late afternoon. Low rays of the setting sun barred the sky, touching the autumn hills with added glory. The prosaic windows of tall office buildings burst into seeming flame. Banks of low-lying clouds had formed in the west, and as I gazed upon them their rugged outlines changed before my eyes first faintly, and then more distinctly, the domes and pillars of a mighty city rose in grandeur. The facade of a beautiful, dignified Auditorium was plainly visible, with happy people surging through its open doors.

Familiar avenues of my loved city wore an unaccustomed look, and at the terminus of Seventh Street on Bluff Avenue the wide arches of a graceful bridge were thrown across the river a group of low, symmetrical buildings marked the site of an inspiring university. Many stately homes faced the river to the south.

A Memorial Drive shone whitely through the trees, attesting the love and gratitude of the community for those who gave their lives for their country. At either end of this triumphant roadway, encircling Brainerd west of the river, arches had been erected. The west entrance bore the inscription: "This arch is raised by the People of Brainerd, to the memory of the Honored Dead." The eastern arch read: "Crow Wing county thus honors the fallen Heroes of the World War." Both arches bore the simple dates, April 6th, 1917—November 11th, 1918.

On the shores of Gilbert lake a rustic pavilion offered shade and entertainment. Brightly decorated canoes and bird-like sail boats dotted the lake. In a vine-covered summerhouse medicinal waters from a nearby spring were proffered.

A huge building of cement housed those attending cinema productions, and from the roof garden came the rhythmic music of an orchestra.

An entrancing view of the city and nearby lakes was to be had from a look-out tower rising to dizzy heights on Ahren's hill. Beautiful Gull lake, and the surrounding country made famous by the Indian chief, Hole-in-the-Day, was clearly seen.

Little villages and towns lay within the encircling arms of Brainerd, joining with friendly feeling in community activities; complete in themselves, yet turning to the larger sister for inspiration in matters of civic interest.

Against the darkening sky the bright banner of the Stars and Stripes shone, flying from the roof of the Vocational Home for disabled soldiers. From the Laurel street bridge the white tents and vari-colored buildings of the Tourists' site at White Park were to be seen, silhouetted against the dark pines. Fires glowed in the outdoor fireplaces, and hurrying figures moved from place to place.

On the corner of Fifth and Laurel streets a towering building with an open court had the unmistakable air of an up-to-date hostelry. To the rear wide-spreading garages gave shelter to many cars.

But a short distance away, stone steps led to an artificial lake below the court house. Graceful trees grew along its shore, and on the sparkling surface was a floating stadium. The hills had been terraced and a multitude of persons watched a beautiful pageant. South of the lake a playground and park extended to the river.

REV. E. A. COOKE · AGAIN RETURNED

Popular Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Brainerd Assigned Here for Another Year

PLEASING TO CONGREGATION

This Makes the Fourth Year of Rev. Cooke's Ministry in the City of Brainerd

The report for the Methodist Episcopal conference for Northern Minnesota which adjourned in Minneapolis on Sunday night shows that Rev. E. A. Cooke was returned to Brainerd for another year. This is particularly pleasing, not only to members of the church but to his many friends outside of the church. Mr. Cooke has the universal support of all members of the church and is also much favored by folks outside. He has been particularly active in his efforts for better cities affairs. He is a member of the Rotary club, of the Commercial club and was a big factor in the upward support of a clean carnival this summer. This will make the fourth year of the ministry of Rev. Cooke in Brainerd.

Mrs. Cooke is much appreciated by the members of the congregation, she has developed an unusually fine primary department of the church school. She is very thorough in her work and the graduates from her department most thorough in the work that they have covered. Rev. and Mrs. Cooke are visiting her mother this week but will return to Brainerd to be present at the service next Sunday.

A dazzling white cement roadway led past the Flying Field on South Sixth street where large hangars held both private and public aeroplanes. The night shift of the iron mine within the city limits (once known as the Barrows mine) hurried along, exchanging rough greetings with the crowds of men homeward bound.

And then the myriad lights of the city flashed out! A great "Whiteaway" marked the length of Bluff Avenue, the Memorial Drive across the river, and all the main avenues and streets of central, East and West Brainerd. High above the city, atop the water tower, a circle of light met the sky.

The shrill whistles of numerous factory sirens mingled with the mellowed church bells in marking the closing hour of workaday life, and as the rosy glow faded in the heavens the old, well-known roofs and spires of Brainerd of today greeted my eyes. But in the sober glory of the afterglow my vision still remained, to shine in reality as the spirit of progress, supported by faith and works, is released in this dear city of ours.

Dreams come true. I feel mine will, and this little city of the North will become known world-wide as the Gateway of Minnesota's Ten Thousand Lakes!

and the Model restaurant the basement.

On the second floor a suite is occupied by the Oriental beauty parlors.

Adjoining this suite and occupying the southwest section of the second floor is the large suite of Dr. E. F. Jamieson who will take possession about October 1. This suite will include consultation room, operating room, etc.

The Brainerd Business & Professional Women's club has rented two large rooms. There is but one vacant room left and that may be taken by a dentist or some other professional man.

The entire second floor is being remodeled, painted and furnished, care being exercised to suit the varying requirements of all the new tenants.

SIXTH DISTRICT AMERICAN LEGION IS ORGANIZED

service men will not be thrown away, but will help all industry. Northern Minnesota can be given no greater stimulus than adjusted compensation.

He scored desert land and other cheap land thrown open. Some of the ex-service men had spent more money looking at poor land than the soil was worth.

"I am not afraid of the business men of America," said Mr. Vernon. "They are fair-minded." Adjusted compensation should be agitated in one's home community and the justice of the ex-service man's cause should be shown.

More than a majority of both bodies of congress were now in favor of it. After July 1, 1922 has passed and any man votes against the measure, he is against the ex-service men, said he.

"If the present congress does not meet us, let's clean 'em out," said Mr. Vernon emphatically.

"Adjusted compensation for the ex-service men will do more to re-establish the economic stability of America than anything else," said Mr. Vernon in conclusion.

"Over There" was sung with a will by the legionnaires.

F. R. N. Anderson

F. R. N. Anderson, Commander of Brainerd post, said the meeting of the sixth district had been an inspiration to all.

"Smiles" was sung with hearty good will and an accompaniment of smiles.

A. A. Van Dyke

Dr. A. A. Van Dyke of St. Paul, State Commander, gave 11 address which in large measure covered the attitude of the Legion in regard to union labor and entirely refuted charges made without foundation that the Legion was opposed to union labor or was in politics. The entire address is given in another column of the Dispatch.

"America"

"America" was sung at the conclusion of the banquet. The Ransford hotel menu was a most excellent one and received many favorable comments. The dining room was most conveniently arranged for the large gathering.

Business Session

After the banquet the business was resumed. Joyce Lewis presided. The finance committee made a short statement. The resolutions presented were adopted unanimously.

G. W. Barron of Cloquet presented an invitation to the sixth district men to attend the eighth district board meeting at Biwabik, the date soon to be announced.

Election of Officers

Dell Batters of Little Falls nominated Milton Mahlum of Brainerd for District Commander. A motion was made by Frederick J. Miller and seconded that nominations be closed.

C. A. Peet of Bertha nominated Joyce Lewis of Long Prairie.

Mr. Miller and second withdrew their motion.

A ballot was taken by counties with this result:

Mahlum—Benton 6 votes; Crow Wing 8 votes; Cass 14 votes; Morrison 9 votes; Stearns 23 votes; total of 60 votes.

Lewis—Aitkin 8 votes; Cass 2 votes; Todd 12 votes; Wadena 7 votes; total 29 votes.

Frederick J. Miller of Pine River nominated J. A. Benson of St. Cloud for Vice Commander, but he declined.

M. F. Murray nominated B. A. Saunders of Wadena and there being no further nominations he was declared unanimously elected.

Executive Committee

At the executive committee meeting held later in Elks hall Arthur Lyndon of Brainerd was named Adjutant, and J. H. Reed of Walker, Finance officer.

The executive committee is composed of the county chairmen, two state executive committee men of this district, the commander and vice commander.

Three additional counties were given seats on the executive committee, Beltrami with Hal Huffman of Bemidji as county chairman, and the counties of Sherburne and Hubbard.

Wadena was named as the next meeting place of the sixth district executive committee.

Delegates Attending.

Among the delegates in attendance at the convention were:

Cloquet, No. 262—Gerald V. Barron, a guest.

Walker, No. 134—J. H. Reed, G. J. Hohman and F. N. Whitney.

Wadena, No. 171—Hugh G. Parker, B. W. Heed, George N. Breher and B. H. Saunders.

Bertha, No. 366—Chester A. Peet, Pine River, No. 156—H. A. Favroux, C. E. Peterson and Frederick J. Miller.

Resolution Committee—Wm. J. Thul, Melrose, chairman; Dr. J. B. Cullen, Sauk Rapids; Wm. Dade, Pillager; Clyde E. Parker, Brainerd; J. H. Heed, Walker.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session, convening at 2:20 p. m. in Elks hall, was presided over by Joyce Lewis of Long Prairie. F. N. Whitney officiated as adjutant.

The rules committee was appointed and retired to its deliberations.

Dr. A. A. Van Dyke of St. Paul, State Commander, was called on and gave a short address in which he emphasized the points that legionnaires should be absolutely just in their organizations and that each should give more than he received.

Resolution and finance committees were named, also committee on constitution.

Adjournment was taken and the business session resumed after the banquet during which officers were elected, constitution adopted, etc.

CONFUSION OVER FUNDING BILL

There seems to be a great deal of confusion in the public mind regarding the "railroad funding bill" soon to be taken up as "unfinished business" before the Senate.

This confusion is largely due to the fact that up to date what discussion there has been of the bill has been couched in financial terms rather than translated into the language of the every day citizen. And unquestionably some of it is due to propaganda turned loose by those who want the railroads forced back into government ownership.

This funding bill provides in effect that not to exceed $500,000,000 of the amount owing to the government may be funded by taking securities of the railroads for that amount which may be purchased and sold by the War Finance Corporation. The bill makes no donations, and does not give the railroads a cent. Not a dollar is to be given out of the public treasury, nor can the bill in any way increase the burden of taxation. The War Finance Corporation will sell any bonds that it receives without recourse and neither it nor the government will be liable upon any bond sold. Only bonds that are well secured will be handled.

The railroads cannot carry on without marketing a large amount of securities and all that the funding bill does is to enable the securities to be marketed through government agencies, and the companies to get the cash.

GENERAL BUSINESS REVIVING

Leading eastern businessmen who have been sounding out the sentiment of the country report that everywhere there seems to be a spirit of hopefulness as to the future. A summary of all such views would seem to indicate that everywhere slight improvement has been seen in business conditions, as compared with two months ago, and that in some part of the country, or in certain industries, a decided improvement has taken place in the last few weeks. Answers to a questionnaire shows that general business in most parts of the United States is reviving and may approach normal this autumn. It is considered quite probable that the general recovery will be slow in spreading for a few weeks, and that then it will spread very rapidly to most of the business community.

GOVERNMENT OFFER UNSATISFACTORY

The five sufferers in the Cloquet district are not at all inclined to accept the government's offer to pay 50 per cent of their losses. They contend that decisions of the State Supreme Court have determined the United States railroad administration to be liable for their entire losses. Three fire sufferers have already obtained judgments against the United States government, and decisions in these cases have been upheld by the Supreme Court. In several other cases verdicts for the settlers have been returned by juries. The 50 per cent offer was made in 278 cases where the liability has been determined, and 40 per cent is offered to all other claimants in the Cloquet district. The settlers naturally feel that they are entitled to the entire amount of their losses since the government's liability has been decided.

MUNICIPAL FUEL YARD

As there has been some talk of a municipal fuel yard in Brainerd, it will perhaps interest our citizens to know that an injunction to restrain the city of Waseca from operating a municipal fuel yard was refused the Central Lumber Co. of that city in a decision rendered by Judge A. H. Childress at Faribault. The injunction was asked for on the ground that a municipality cannot legally engage in a private enterprise for profit. Judge Childress also upheld the requirement that all coal be weighed on the city scales, which the Lumber firm opposed.

Much significance is attached to the decision of Judge Childress, as many other cities in the state are contemplating the establishment of municipal fuel yards.

Discussing the need of good roads, the Valley City Times-Record makes the following pertinent suggestion:

"But there is one phase of the road business which is not as yet emphasized as it should be and some day will be, and that is the provision of adequate trained men to care for the upkeep of roads which have been put in good condition."

A Scene From A. H. Wood's farce hit, "Ladies Night," in a Turkish Bath, at New Park Theatre Saturday October 1

Jimmy was afraid of women; he just couldn't trust himself to look at them, although he was comfortably and happily married. Attractive women, of course. They made him feel—well, he just didn't think he had force of character to mingle with them. His friends knew it, and what followed was their fault. Of all the men in the world it was Jimmy who found himself in a Turkish Bath on "Ladies Night." This outline will suggest the infinite possibilities of "Ladies Night" the farce hit which ran a year in New York and which A. H. Woods will present at the New Park theatre on Saturday evening, October 1.

This frolicsome fable is from the pen of Charlton Andrews and Avery Hopwood well known author of farce. The principal role is played by Ralph

Bunker. Others in the company are Muriel Hudson, Ebba Andrus, Dave Jones, Josephine Saxe, Stanley DeWolfe, Ellen Best, Antoinette Crawford, Helen Courtney, Mary Mixen, Marjorie Chester, Alma Wall, Bobbie Lee, Josephine Deffry, Doll Farland, Lillian Smalley and Wm. Dorbin.

The alluring girls, the funny lines, the brisk action, make "Ladies Night" an unforgettable delight.

GENERAL BUSINESS REVIVING

Leading eastern businessmen who have been sounding out the sentiment of the country report that everywhere there seems to be a spirit of hopefulness as to the future. A summary of all such views would seem to indicate that everywhere slight improvement has been seen in business conditions, as compared with two months ago, and that in some part of the country, or in certain industries, a decided improvement has taken place in the last few weeks. Answers to a questionnaire shows that general business in most parts of the United States is reviving and may approach normal this autumn. It is considered quite probable that the general recovery will be slow in spreading for a few weeks, and that then it will spread very rapidly to most of the business community.

GOVERNMENT OFFER UNSATISFACTORY

The five sufferers in the Cloquet district are not at all inclined to accept the government's offer to pay 50 per cent of their losses. They contend that decisions of the State Supreme Court have determined the United States railroad administration to be liable for their entire losses. Three fire sufferers have already obtained judgments against the United States government, and decisions in these cases have been upheld by the Supreme Court. In several other cases verdicts for the settlers have been returned by juries. The 50 per cent offer was made in 278 cases where the liability has been determined, and 40 per cent is offered to all other claimants in the Cloquet district. The settlers naturally feel that they are entitled to the entire amount of their losses since the government's liability has been decided.

MUNICIPAL FUEL YARD

As there has been some talk of a municipal fuel yard in Brainerd, it will perhaps interest our citizens to know that an injunction to restrain the city of Waseca from operating a municipal fuel yard was refused the Central Lumber Co. of that city in a decision rendered by Judge A. H. Childress at Faribault. The injunction was asked for on the ground that a municipality cannot legally engage in a private enterprise for profit. Judge Childress also upheld the requirement that all coal be weighed on the city scales, which the Lumber firm opposed.

Much significance is attached to the decision of Judge Childress, as many other cities in the state are contemplating the establishment of municipal fuel yards.

Discussing the need of good roads, the Valley City Times-Record makes the following pertinent suggestion:

"But there is one phase of the road business which is not as yet emphasized as it should be and some day will be, and that is the provision of adequate trained men to care for the upkeep of roads which have been put in good condition."

Close observers of the political situation are of the opinion that the finish of the Nonpartisan League is in sight, but this must not be taken as meaning that the end is not going to be without a struggle. Townley is expected to make the fight of his life next year.

There are still those who wonder if Ireland really wants to have complete independence or just wants to fight for it, says the Providence Tribune.

Army Reunion

This includes the First and Second North Dakota Infantry, numbering in all about 1,200 men.

Ascertain Agricultural Production

Fargo, Sept. 27.—Practical steps have been taken this year to arrive at a definite figure on agricultural production costs. One hundred and eight farmers kept records. Rev. Willard, farm economist, connected with the agricultural college, will conduct 15 to 20 cost schools in as many counties. Farmers attending will be instructed in farm book keeping.

AMUSEMENTS

Call of the North Heard in New Play of Canadian Northwest

"The Courage of Marge O'Doone," Vitagraph's splendid screen version of the powerful novel by James Oliver Curwood, which will be seen at the Lyceum theatre last time tonight, is a veritable "Call of the North." And a clarion call it is that this splendid, vigorous story of the frozen Northland sends out from the screen after being pictureized and made into a superb, big special photo-drama production.

It was a photograph of a beautiful girl, timid, half frightened, with hair streaming down her back and large innocent eyes that sent David Raine into the Canadian Northwest, in which Pauline Starke plays the title role.

Land Clearing Demonstration
St. Paul, Sept. 27.—The Minnesota land clearing demonstration caravan will start home today. The last of a series of land clearing demonstrations in St. Louis county was staged at Adolph today. The five trucks carrying land clearing equipment are in charge of experts from the University of Minnesota Agricultural college.

A Scene From A. H. Wood's farce hit, "Ladies Night," in a Turkish Bath, at New Park Theatre Saturday October 1

Jimmy was afraid of women; he just couldn't trust himself to look at them, although he was comfortably and happily married. Attractive women, of course. They made him feel—well, he just didn't think he had force of character to mingle with them. His friends knew it, and what followed was their fault. Of all the men in the world it was Jimmy who found himself in a Turkish Bath on "Ladies Night."

This outline will suggest the infinite possibilities of "Ladies Night" the farce hit which ran a year in New York and which A. H. Woods will present at the New Park theatre on Saturday evening, October 1.

This frolicsome foible is from the pen of Charlton Andrews and Avery Hopwood well known author of farce. The principal role is played by Ralph

Bunker. Others in the company are Muriel Hudson, Ebba Andrus, Dave Jones, Josephine Saxe, Stanley De Wolfe, Ellen Best, Antoinette Crawford, Helen Courtney, Mary Mixen, Marjorie Chester, Alma Wall, Bobbie Lee, Josephine Deffy, Doll Farlandau, Lilian Smalley and Wm. Dorbin. The alluring girls, the funny lines, the brisk action, make "Ladies Night" an unforgettable delight.

Sue for Portion of Estate

Gracy, N. D., Sept. 27.—Carl C. and Eugene F. Bastion, declared that for three years after they reached legal age they worked without compensation on the farm of their foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Laurie, under the impression they were legally adopted. Upon the death of Laurie it was learned that they were never legally adopted. The boys did not share in the $50,000 estate. They are suing for a portion.

Believe Child Drowned

Garrison, Sept. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Jake Notton have resigned themselves to the belief that their four-year-old son was drowned last June in the Missouri river. Reports that a gypsy band was camping near Heil, N. D., with a fair haired child like theirs, led to a three month's trailing of the band. Notton finally overtook them at St. Cloud and learned that neither of the blonde haired children in the camp was his.

Value Telephone Co.

St. Paul, Sept. 27.—The state railroad and warehouse commission set out today to learn true valuations of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company properties in Minnesota. Hearings are to determine a fair rate making basis for Minnesota telephone subscribers.

Valuation figures given by the company and outside engineers differ by millions of dollars. The commission is attempting to clear up the differences.

Duluth telephone subscribers were also interested in the Northwestern telephone company hearings today.

A hearing of valuation of the Tri-State telephone company's property will be held Tuesday.

LEGION STAND ON ORGANIZED LABOR

State Commander A. A. Van Dyke Re-affirmed his Full Belief in Organized Labor

LEGION IS NOT CAPITALISTIC
American Legion Was Not Made Up of Capitalists or Interested in Capitalists

In his address State Commander A. A. Van Dyke, of St. Paul, said:

"Members of the American Legion and fellow citizens, it is a pleasure to talk to you tonight on two subjects, both of which I feel very deeply interested in.

"First, I believe in organized labor. I want to tell you why I have a right to talk on organized labor. I came from a family who believe in organized labor.

"I will start by refuting the statement that the American Legion is made up of capitalists or in any way interested in capitalists. We will take our own state—because it is closest to us. They say we are interested in politics and backing the capitalist. Let us analyze it. I have been elected leader of the American Legion in Minnesota and represent the United States on the executive committee. Take my home life. My family life, if you please. At all times from the very beginning my father and those before me, my brothers, and there are seven of them living, have believed in the rights of organized labor. We believe that if it is right to allow capital to organize to better conditions and promote the welfare of the country it is also right that labor have a right to organize. We believe that. My brother was not only the first congressman elected by union labor in Ramsey county but the first man in Minnesota elected by union labor. At present he is at the head of one of the largest union labor papers in the United States and I am also interested in it. They tell you the American Legion does not believe in union labor. Yet the Legion has elected me who believes in it, whose family has believed in it, backed it and come out for it. Does that refute the statement or not?

"They say we are interested in politics, yet God knows this is not a democratic state. At present I belong to the same party as my friends Murray and Johnson and perhaps always will be democrat. Yet the American Legion has elected me as their leader. Going farther, at one time the State Federation of Labor in the state of Minnesota called on the American Legion to furnish a representative before their body to answer questions. It so happened that I was chosen to represent the American Legion before the state. At that place for two hours the State Federation of Labor organization questioned me individually, collectively—and sometimes it was collectively. They asked me every question in general and there was not one I was not able to answer, and when the meeting was over they said this: 'that there was no reason for two or three or four ex-service organizations in the state of Minnesota. There was no reason for a multitude of war armies, therefore they instructed the state secretary to go together with the different organizations of this war to see if they could not join in one organization. This was done by the State Federation of Labor.'

"We held our meetings with the different organizations of the American Legion and so far as I could see there was not a service man in the organizations in the state which could not live up to the principles of the American Legion. Finally we came to a rock in one of the organizations. The leader of that organization had never worn a uniform of the soldier of the United States and owing to that fact he could not adopt the American Legion of the state of Minnesota, so he eventually broke up a party and said 'we are going home into our own camp', because it was impossible for him to join the American Legion. He had served in Diaz's army in Mexico and not in the United States and he was a national commander at that time of the other veterans organization to which I refer. That is why there is one organization today.

"As to the American Legion and union labor, take our record from start to finish, from the local post to the national convention. There has never been a time when the American Legion has been any more opposed to union labor than it has been to capital. We are not endorsing any one class of life for we came from every class. The men who came from the factory, from the farm, from that walk of life and this walk of life, will go back to that or this walk of life and be a part of it. Therefore it is not meet that we go out of our way to endorse any organization. But I defy any man, woman or child in the United States to show me where the American Legion as a national, state, or local organization of this state has done anything in any way to indicate that we are opposed to union labor. I have put that defy before the State Federation of Labor and before local federations of labor and it has never been made at any time in any state. If you wish verification of my stand on union labor get in touch with Hall, state president, Lawson, state secretary, also the head of the organization of St. Paul. I will back up each and every statement I have made.

"If the American Legion was opposed to union labor they would not elect me as their head. That stands to reason. We are not concerned whether an American Legion member is an organized labor man, whether he is republican or democrat, whether he is an Irishman or a Jew. We are concerned only on one point—is he a good American citizen. Does he believe in his country? Will he be willing to fight for his country, and if need be, will he die for his country? That is the principle which most concerns us in the American Legion.

"If a man has any objection to the American Legion he should come out in the open and answer these objections when they are put before him and state his position.

"I came not so much to talk of organized labor as to talk of the American Legion.

"Who are we? Why are we? It is either the greatest thing that has ever been given, or the greatest humbug that has ever been perpetrated in this country. It is the former. We are sons and daughters of this country who are willing to give our life if need be, for freedom—which has been passed on to us by our forefathers. That freedom will be guarded by us and passed on to our children. We are just simply you and I, that is all.

"What do we wish to do to make this country more livable for yourselves, for your brothers and sisters and for your children. How do we expect to do it? By giving more than you receive, success will come to you. The man who gives is the man who will be successful.

"In every walk in life there are two marchers—that army who fight at the front and that army who remains at home. During the last war the army at the front numbered 5,000,000. The army at home about 95,000,000. The army who stayed at home said this to the men who went across: 'Boys, I entrust to you all that is dearer to us than all else—our home, our children. We are giving to you our flag as it has been given to us—without a stain, without a mark. Carry it across the sea, fight under it, live under it and if need be die. Then come back to us and we will take care of you.'

"The boys carried the flag across the sea. They fought under it and some of them died under it. They came back without a stain. Now it is up to the army at home which we have appointed to carry out their promises. It is up to them to take care of their disabled. It is up to them to adjust that compensation, that is their duty to carry out. We have carried out ours. God help them if they do not carry out theirs.

"The men went over. They asked no questions. It was do or die. Many today are back home to do their duty in every phase of life. What will be our duty in our position as the American Legion in reference to those who are found not only in one order of life but in every organization, that element which would tear down the structure of all those who have gone before us? What is our answer? 'They shall not pass.' We as the American Legion say to all radical elements: 'They shall not pass today or any future day.'

"From now on every member of this organization is going to give all with all their hearts to help make this a better country. Most any man can die for his country but it takes a big man to stand the rest of his days and live for this selfsame country. That is their duty. To live for that same country you are in. To die for it. Not today or tomorrow, but all the days and tomorrows that are yet before you. You have seen the shadow of death pass over your shoulder and were willing to face it, but now you have come back to be an idol for the younger generation to look to. That is the message of the American Legion for you.

"You are carrying the greatest honors which a country can give and you must carry it on and give yourself. This is the burden that is yours. Not to take and receive but to carry on and give as you would have given your life so when the history of the American Legion is written and the last die is cast, when we have come to the end which awaits us all, the world will look up to you as men who loved their country. Men who not only would die but live for their country. Men who would live and break the

BODY OF NELSON FOUND IN LAKE

William McCall of South Long Lake Gets Remains With Net in Thirty Feet of Water

DUCK IS CLUTCHED IN HAND
Funeral to be Held on Wednesday, Services in Brainerd and at So. Long Lake

The body of Robert Nelson, who was drowned in South Long Lake two miles south of Lone Pine Camp Sunday afternoon, was found at 4:10 p. m. Monday by William McCall. Nets, grappling hooks and spears had been used without success and seven drags had been made, when McCall scoured north of where most of the efforts at recovery were directed and found the body with a net.

In one hand Nelson still tightly clutched the duck he had shot and whose recovery brought him to death. Nelson saw service in the army, having been a corporal.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock from the Bethlehem Lutheran church with Rev. O. S. Winther officiating. This service will be in English. The remains will then be taken to South Long Lake and a Norwegian service held at 3:30 p. m.

The remains may be viewed at the B. C. McNamara chapel until the hour of the service in Brainerd. The basket will be opened at the South Long Lake church so friends, relatives and neighbors may view it there.

The tragedy is one which carries much sorrow. The wife of Nelson stood on the bank and saw him drown, and was powerless to extend aid. They were married only a year ago.

MAY ARREST FELON

Citizens May Arrest a Felon, Police are Told by Charles F. Kelly, Minneapolis Attorney

Police may make arrest without a warrant if the offense charged is a felony, Charles F. Kelly, Minneapolis attorney, told a group of Minneapolis policemen and attorneys in the assembly hall of the courthouse in Minneapolis.

Mr. Kelly explained the duties of police officers and civilians in making arrests, his address being the first of a series of 10 to be given by members of the Hennepin County Bar association to the police and attorneys. A lecture will be given each Tuesday evening.

Police are authorized to use all necessary means to effect the arrest of a person who attempts escape after once being told of the police's intention to arrest, Mr. Kelly said. If the offense charged is a felony, the officer or a private citizen may make the arrest without a warrant, whether committed in the presence of the arresting person or not, provided there is reasonable grounds for believing a felony has been committed, he said.

Officers may call on bystanders for assistance in making arrests, said Mr. Kelly, who quoted Minnesota law in his lecture. If a private person makes an arrest, he must tell the person what the offense charge is and he must then deliver the individual at once to a police officer or magistrate, he declared.

"If a man has any objection to the American Legion he should come out in the open and answer these objections when they are put before him and state his position.

"I came not so much to talk of organized labor as to talk of the American Legion.

"Who are we? Why are we? It is either the greatest thing that has ever been given, or the greatest humbug that has ever been perpetrated in this country. It is the former. We are sons and daughters of this country who are willing to give our life if need be, for freedom—which has been passed on to us by our forefathers. That freedom will be guarded by us and passed on to our children. We are just simply you and I, that is all.

"What do we wish to do to make this country more livable for yourselves, for your brothers and sisters and for your children. How do we expect to do it? By giving more than you receive, success will come to you. The man who gives is the man who will be successful.

"In every walk in life there are two marchers—that army who fight at the front and that army who remain at home. During the last war the army at the front numbered 5,000,000. The army at home about 95,000,000. The army who stayed at home said this to the men who went across: 'Boys, I entrust to you all that is dearer to us than all else—our home, our children. We are giving to you our flag as it has been given to us—without a stain, without a mark. Carry it across the sea, fight under it, live under it and if need be die. Then come back to us and we will take care of you'.

"The boys carried the flag across the sea. They fought under it and some of them died under it. They came back without a stain. Now it is up to the army at home which we have appointed to carry out their promises. It is up to them to take care of their disabled. It is up to them to adjust that compensation, that is their duty to carry out. We have carried out ours. God help them if they do not carry out theirs.

"The men went over. They asked no questions. It was do or die. Many today are back home to do their duty in every phase of life. What will be our duty in our position as the American Legion in reference to those who are found not only in one order of life but in every organization, that element which would tear down the structure of all those who have gone before us? What is our answer? 'They shall not pass.' We as the American Legion say to all radical elements: 'They shall not pass today or any future day.'

"From now on every member of this organization is going to give all with all their hearts to help make this a better country. Most any man can die for his country but it takes a big man to stand the rest of his days and live for this selfsame country. That is their duty. To live for that same country you are in. To die for it. Not today or tomorrow, but all the days and tomorrows that are yet before you. You have seen the shadow of death pass over your shoulder and were willing to face it, but now you have come back to be an idol for the younger generation to look to. That is the message of the American Legion for you.

"You are carrying the greatest honors which a country can give and you must carry it on and give yourself. This is the burden that is yours. Not to take and receive but to carry on and give as you would have given your life so when the history of the American Legion is written and the last die is cast, when we have come to the end which awaits us all, the world will look up to you as men who loved their country. Men who not only would die but live for their country. Men who would live and break the

William McCall of South Long Lake Gets Remains With Net in Thirty Feet of Water

DUCK IS CLUTCHED IN HAND

Funeral to be Held on Wednesday, Services in Brainerd and at So. Long Lake

The body of Robert Nelson, who was drowned in South Long Lake two miles south of Lone Pine Camp Sunday afternoon, was found at 4:10 p. m. Monday by William McCall. Nets, grappling hooks and spears had been used without success and seven drags had been made, when McCall scoured north of where most of the efforts at recovery were directed and found the body with a net.

In one hand Nelson still tightly clutched the duck he had shot and whose recovery brought him to death. Nelson saw service in the army, having been a corporal.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock from the Bethlehem Lutheran church with Rev. O. S. Winther officiating. This service will be in English. The remains will then be taken to South Long Lake and a Norwegian service held at 3:30 p. m.

The remains may be viewed at the B. C. McNamara chapel until the hour of the service in Brainerd. Theasket will be opened at the South Long Lake church so friends, relatives and neighbors may view it there.

The tragedy is one which carries much sorrow. The wife of Nelson stood on the bank and saw him drown, and was powerless to extend aid. They were married only a year ago.

MAY ARREST FELON

Citizens May Arrest a Felon, Police are Told by Charles F. Kelly, Minneapolis Attorney

Police may make arrest without a warrant if the offense charged is a felony, Charles F. Kelly, Minneapolis attorney, told a group of Minneapolis policemen and attorneys in the assembly hall of the courthouse in Minneapolis.

Mr. Kelly explained the duties of police officers and civilians in making arrests, his address being the first of a series of 10 to be given by members of the Hennepin County Bar association to the police and attorneys. A lecture will be given each Tuesday evening.

Police are authorized to use all necessary means to effect the arrest of a person who attempts escape after once being told of the police's intention to arrest, Mr. Kelly said. If the offense charged is a felony, the officer or a private citizen may make the arrest without a warrant, whether committed in the presence of the arresting person or not, provided there is reasonable grounds for believing a felony has been committed, he said.

Officers may call on bystanders for assistance in making arrests, said Mr. Kelly, who quoted Minnesota law in his lecture. If a private person makes an arrest, he must tell the person what the offense charge is and he must then deliver the individual at once to a police officer or magistrate, he declared.

WORLD MUST DISARM OR BE RUINED SAYS U. S. ECONOMIST

By ALFRED O. CROZIER,
(Written for the United Press.)
New York, Sept. 27.—A new drive for permanent peace has been started. A tidal wave of public sentiment must be put in motion. The power of the people to get what they want must be demonstrated. The press is asked to help. It is feared that the disarmament conference will be a failure unless this is done.

A patriotic endless chain of correspondence is proposed. Every man and woman is asked to write three letters, and then get three other persons to do the same. One is to be mailed to the President, one to a senator and the other to a congressman. Letters to local papers also is advised. The movement may spread to other countries. It may become an irresistible demand by the world's peoples on their governments for disarmament and permanent peace. The people can abolish war if they go at it in earnest. The alternative is to prepare for another and greater world war.

The nations should (1) reduce all national armaments and forces in concert at least half; (2) merge and use the discarded armaments to create one mutual world police power; (3) organize a representative Association of Nations to manage and control such mutual power and use it to prevent national re-armament and protect every nation against attack from the outside. It is the only way to abolish war and get permanent peace.

Primarily, the move to reduce or limit armaments is economic. It is merely an attempt to save dollars. It is not a plan to get permanent peace. It is, however, entirely justified and necessary for economic reasons. The war increased the bonded debts of nations from 39 to 200 billions and the annual interest thereon from 2 to 10 billions. It increased the public debt of the United States from one to 25 billions and the annual interest from 20 to 1,000 millions. In thirty years this country has spent over 8 billions, or more than the world's entire stock of gold, on its navy alone. Nearly 90 per cent of all our government collects and spends goes to prepare for war and to pay for things caused by war. No sane country would disarm and leave envious neighbor nations armed to the teeth. Disarmament must be in concert or not at all.

The world's suffering peoples must not be deceived. They should know that limitation, reduction or even complete disarmament would not bring permanent peace. Unless re-armament can be prevented nations soon will be obliged to again increase armaments. The moment one big nation starts to rearm, all other nations must do the same. Then they will spend ten billions on new armaments for each one billion they now throw away. Of course that would mean another and greater world war. There would be no way to avoid it.

Re-armament cannot be prevented by mutual agreement. Treaties are "mere scraps of paper" when an ambitious nation ignores them. It can not be done by an alliance treaty. The allies of today are the enemies of tomorrow. If some nations were to use force to compel other nations to stay disarmed, that would be war. War can not be abolished by more war.

The only way re-armament can be prevented without involving part if not all of the individual nations in another war is to create by a merger of armaments a mutual world police power that would be ever ready and strong enough to prevent re-armament by any nation. That would end war, because nations can not fight unless they can arm. If they arm, they will fight. That is human nature and it is history.

The American representative system would be the best model for the proposed association of nations. It can be modified to fit the limited field. Every nation should be represented on an agreed fair basis. Its assembly would enact all international laws. Its world court would enable nations to get justice without resorting to war. Its council would conduct the business and use the mutual power for the impartial protection of all nations and to prevent any national re-armament. That is civilization's best machinery.

The whole responsibility and duty of maintaining peace and preventing re-armament would be on the association. Individual nations would not be involved at all. That makes it safe for every nation. Under the League of Nations' plan, it is the nations themselves that must furnish and apply force. That would be war. It might involve all nations. That plan is dangerous.

There are just two alternatives. Hereafter the family of nations will be policed and guarded by one orderly mutual power or it will be terrified and wrecked by the forty national competing powers in a world war that will largely exterminate civilization and mankind. The nations now must abolish war or they will be destroyed by war. Red anarchy then would rule the world.

Hereafter the entire world must not be left to depend for its peace and security wholly upon the will of one mad monarch, nor upon the action of one ambitious or frenzied people.

IDLE GOING BACK TO WORK IN ENGLAND

By LLOYD ALLEN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London. (By Mail.)—England is steadily overcoming the overwhelming business debacle of last May and June, when the ugly threat of anarchy was everywhere mentioned in connection with the bitter coal strike—and is now enjoying a consistent week-by-week business improvement.

It's a long uphill climb back to the position of twelve months ago, even. But with the characteristic British dogged faith in the future, the country is slowly straining back to normal.

Surest indication of remarkable recovery are Ministry of Labor statistics on unemployment.

Official ministry reports show that over half a million workers have been placed on pay-rolls since mid-June. However, the number of workless at this moment is still sufficiently large to cause everyone considerable worry.

A brief glance at the official figures, position in June, and the extent of improvement already registered.

On June 24 (the high point of British unemployment) there were 2,177,399 workers absolutely idle and over half a million on part time.

For August 19 the latest available official figures show 1,640,600 workless with less than half a million part timers.

In other words, the workers are gradually being absorbed back into productive work at a rate of between 20,000 and 40,000 weekly.

These figures include many women and girls, as well as boys. Classified into the sexes, the workless of August 19 are as follows:

Men	1,242,400
Boys	61,100
Women	290,000
Girls	47,000

Total 1,640,600

Meanwhile, the miners themselves are not enjoying their wartime prosperity. Some 100 mines are idle and 20,000 miners are workless.

England is beginning to hope that the great crisis of strained relationship between capital and labor passed when the famous Triple Alliance—composed of railway workers, transport men generally and coal miners—failed to function in producing a general strike that would have halted most of the activities of national life. And there is further hope—encouraged by the attitude of responsible labor leaders themselves—that the regime of the "hot heads" in the labor movement has ended, or at least been so thoroughly discouraged that the resumption of a long era of industrial peace and general prosperity will, ere long, be ushered in.

KU KLUX KLAN TO BE INVESTIGATED BY FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

Col. William Joseph Simmons, "Imperial Wizard" of the "Invisible Empire" of the Ku Klux Klan, whose organization is to be investigated by the Federal Authorities is seen here on the left greeting a fellow Klansman on a mountain in Georgia. ship between capital and labor passed when the famous Triple Alliance—composed of railway workers, transport men generally and coal miners—failed to function in producing a general strike that would have halted most of the activities of national life.

And there is further hope—encouraged by the attitude of responsible labor leaders themselves—that the regime of the "hot heads" in the labor movement has ended, or at least been so thoroughly discouraged that the resumption of a long era of industrial peace and general prosperity will, ere long, be ushered in.

THE BEST NONE TOO GOOD

"After many years of stomach suffering I have at last found a medicine for that trouble. But believe me it was a timely find. I couldn't have lasted a great while longer. My stomach would bloat with gas like a barrel and the colic got to be awful. Medicine didn't help much until I got hold of May's Wonderful Remedy, which did the trick. I am telling everyone about it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and all leading druggists.
